Three Groups Drop Out Of University Sing

The College of Business Administration Triumvirate will sponsor the third annual Spring Convocation from 1-2 p.m., Tuesday, May 9, in Annie Lawes Auditorium.

This year's guest speaker, T. J. Cathey, president of The Eagle-Picher Co. of Cincinnati and chairman of the Corporate Division of the 1961 U.S. Fund Campaign, will speak on "The Philosophy of Corporate Giving." The schedule of events for the day, arranged by Carol Marple, Bus. Ad. '63, and Steve Austin, Bus. Ad. '60, cochairs of the student section of the Society of American Business Editors and Publishers, will include a reception for guests and convocation participants, a banquet at Spring Grove and Colerain at noon on the above date, and a panel on "Career Considerations." The hospitality of Spring Grove and Colerain will be offered to guests.

Six Leaders To Get Degrees At Twilight Commencement

Three bold civic and business leaders and three out-of-town men prominent in the fields of education, business and medical science will receive honorary degrees at the University of Cincinnati's 9th twilight commencement.

G. L. Langman, president of the University, last Wednesday night announced names of those upon whom he will confer these honors. Three are UC alumni. Those honored will be: A. M. Zimby, former president, Union Carbide Co., Inc., Cincinnati; and E. H. Wolfson, board chairman, Federal Construction Company, New York City.

The honorary Doctor of Science degree will be presented by Dr. Neil A. Peery, master of ceremonies of the University's School of Medicine, San Francisco.

Dr. Harry Maurice Payne, the Sterling professor of French and head of that department at Yale University, will confer the honorary Doctor of Letters degree.

Two sororities and one fraternity have recently dropped out of the University. The total is now in eight sororities and ten fraternities of the Greek organizations and is significantly smaller, while several others noted that a convention time for practice simply could not be arranged. "No comment" was the only answer available to the latter Greek organiza- tion.

The annual University sing will be held Sunday, May 14, in Wil- liamson Gymnasium. Original plans were for at least 16 participating groups. So far three have dropped out.

If they drop out I imagine the reason will be that the groups cannot get people to give enough time for practice," said John Betz, chairman of the sing. All sororities and fraternities were in- vited to participate.

Four sororities, one in a mixed group, and one fraternity will make up those compet- ing in the sing. Those participating are Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Phi Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Gamma, Chi Omega, Alpha Sig-

The musical program will range from religious selections and numbers from recent musicals to sorority and fraternity songs. Fraternities will be judged on a competitive basis, but sororities participating have chosen not to be judged competitively. Judging will be based on excellence of performance and the presentation itself. Trophies will be awarded to first and third runners up. A representative of one group noted, "We will definitely sing. We are determined to get our girls back in the song.'"

Greenhouse Aids Botanists

by Dick Kleve

A collection of plants ranging from banana trees, which actually grow in the tropics, to various vegetables and fruits which have been grown in the greenhouse, are part of the new University of Cincinnati Botanical Garden.

The building was completed last year and is used for experiments by botany students. It is located in the middle of the campus, near the art buildings.

The greenhouse is open to the public on Saturdays and Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m.

Chinese plants, like the Chrysantheme, are used in the greenhouse. These plants are native to China and are grown for their ornamental value.

The greenhouse also houses a collection of grasses, which are used in landscaping.

The greenhouse is run by Dr. George C. B. Cressey, who has been a professor of botany at the University of Michigan for many years.

He said that the greenhouse is an important part of the University of Cincinnati's efforts to promote the study of botany.

CRESSEY'S FIELD TRIP

Dr. Cressey is planning a field trip to the Midwest, where he will study the effects of pollution on plants.

He said that the trip will be an important part of his research, and that it will help him to understand the effects of pollution on plants.

The trip will be sponsored by the university, and will be open to students and faculty.

CINNATI TIMES

The Cincinnati Times is a local newspaper that covers a wide range of topics, including local news, sports, business, and entertainment.

It is published every Thursday and is available for sale at newsstands throughout the city.

The newspaper has a strong focus on local news, and is particularly known for its coverage of local politics.

It is also known for its coverage of local sports, and is a popular source of information for fans of local teams.

The newspaper is owned by the Cincinnati Times Publishing Company, and is based in Cincinnati, Ohio.
Mortar Board Sponsors China Design Showing

Selected University women will have the opportunity to attend a showing of new themes in bone china dinnerware styles Friday, May 5. The event, sponsored by members of Mortar Board, will be held from 9:30-4:30 in the Qtgdon Union. Each girl will view 35 proposed pattern styles and, in making her selections, will play a part in determining future dinnerware styles.

The designs are products of a well-known china company. Intended only as an aid in determining future patterns and as an experience for the girls, the affair is similar to showings held in colleges all over the country. There is no fee and no obligation attached. Interested students may inquire about the display in the Dean of Women's office.

UC Library to Adopt 'Exit Control' System

Following in the footsteps of other large academic libraries, UC's main library will initiate an "exit control" system in September for the protection of all books leaving the building.

This system, granted tentative administrative approval, will require the opening of books and booklets to make sure that all books are properly charged. Approximately 2000 library volumes have disappeared in the past year, representing a loss as high as $8,000, according to Mr. Arthur, Hamlin University library officer.

"We have wonderful cooperation from the student body," Mr. Hamlin observed. "Exit control does not involve any shrinking of restriction within the building and somewhat freer use of the stacks.

Cafeteria...

The Tibbals Company runs the new cafeteria for the University. Dr. Floyd Brewer, director of the student cafeteria, directed the opening ceremonies, stressing that the cafeteria "is very reputable." He further indicates that the pattern is in catering to the customer, and that it is in pleasing the customer the main business, rather than in making their profit from exorbitant prices.

The patrons will be able to eat right there. The old card room, adjacent, is to be used for this purpose, seating forty people. This will be a temporary arrangement until the Bridge enthusiasts have a new place to eat. The new room will provide room for an additional twenty people. It will move through campus drive and will be held in the Army Fieldhouse.

Demakes Becomes Yearbook Editor

Chris Demakes, A&S '62, recently named editor of the Cincinnati for next year, outlined some of his plans for the yearbook.

Although ideas are still in the formative stage, several are definite. For example, color photography, left out of the book this year, will again be a feature.

The academic year, as well as this sports section, will be enlarged. "We will attempt to include pictures of department heads as well as deans," said Demakes. "Since most students spend the majority of their time in classes, we feel that coverage of this area should be greatly increased."

Continued in next year's annual will be the selection of Cincinnati Beauties. "However, we hope to change the method of selection by using professional judges," added Demakes.

At present Demakes is in the process of selecting a printer and engraver for the book. Serving as business manager will be John Watson, Eng. '62. Assisting him in the major editorial positions will be Anita Smith, AA '63, designer; Dale Wolf, A&S '64, art editor; and Charles Yarborough, A&S '64, production manager.

The theme for the book has not as yet been decided. "We will attempt to portray every aspect of school life from the class room to extra-curricular activities," remarked Demakes. "Senior portraits which will be taken by Shillito's. Seniors will be sent information by the end of the summer telling them where to report for their photos and when."

Demakes served on this year's Cincinnati staff as copy editor. In previous years he has served as assistant copy editor and as one of the copy staff. At Walnut Hills high school he was editor of the yearbook, the student's yearbook, there.

There are still openings on our staff," added Demakes. Interested students should contact John Watson.

Far from approaching saturation, the nation's building market remains firm. In a recent article, W. Solomon, New York City, knows all about Miami's great builder of skyscrapers. The Miami building market is firm and the building market is firm and the building market is firm.

"Rebuilding America's Skylines:" Four years after O'Brien's article in which it said in effect, "Miami is on the building market," the University of Cincinnati's annual Drama Festival is on this job, constructing a larger building in a larger city, and the capacity crowd which they teach.

Summary

Thursday, May 4, 1961

UC's Administrative approval of "exit control" in the main library was recently granted "in the best interests of the university family." What this means, in short, is that the disappearance of as many as 2,000 volumes a year—representing an annual loss as high as $6,000—has necessitated the inspection of all books leaving the main library.

While some people without intent to steal is inevitable, the shortage exceeds the bounds attributable to ignorance. Consequently, UC's one of the largest University libraries to hold out against exit control, has examined the need and endorsed this stop. Special funds have been allocated to build and staff this booth, scheduled for opening in September.

Exit control will allow somewhat fewer uses of the bookstacks and a largering of restrictions within the main library building, it seems a sad reflection of the student body that UC must resort to this control. The ignorance, lack of respect, and easy consciences of a minority of students have resulted in actions that will affect the majority, and have forced UC to follow in the path of other large colleges; 10 cents per copy. The Faculty raises We are glad to find that, as a result of the raise in tuition at UC next fall, many faculty members will receive increased salaries beginning in September. There were some doubts as to the purpose of this higher tuition, and many felt that the faculty might not get the benefit which they deserved from it.

Students Break Tradition; Head North For Vacation

Two UC students, Tom Bullock, AAS '62, and Larry Kroovand, AAS '64, ignored all spring vacation traditions by going north to "get away from it all." The pair embarked on the 10-day 1300-mile trip in an MG.

During the vacation they visited four Michigan universities: Michigan State, Flint College, the University of Michigan, and Central Michigan.

"Searching for something out of the ordinary as spring vacation goes, we set out to combine social activity, adventure, and culture," said Bullock. At the four schools we met hundreds of students and talked to many of them about their university and UC," he continued. "Other groups included world events, their social activities, and of course, the UC national basketball champions."

At the University of Michigan they participated in a Sherwood Forest party at one of the fraternity houses. The rugs were rolled up and straw was spread a foot deep over the floors. Simulated trees and logs were set about. In the basement "Ye Olde Stage Hall" was serving chicken, French bread, and beverages.

Purified, the two fell for the bait when they were told of a Playboy Party being held in downtown Ann Arbor, Michigan. It turned out to be an advertising gimmick. All was not lost however. A large department store had hired two of Playboy Magazine's Playmates (October and November) to attract business.

"Our trip proved invaluable to inter-university relations," commented Larry. "I was told by one U of M student that we had torn things wide open at each function we attended, adding new spirit to the group." "We even got a tan despite a four-inch snow the following day," concluded Tom, "next year, come spring vacation, it will be a different decision whether to go to Michigan or head south to Ft. Lauderdale."
Netters Boost Record; Look To MVC Contest

by Stan Shulman

The UC tennis squad, boasting a 11-3 record, will hit the field today for the first time since its 10-9 triumph over Hanover, the ninth consecutive victory of the season. According to tennis coach Harry Fogelman, and his assistants, the team is ready to match its schedule.

The UC tennis squad is currently in the process of selecting the players who will compete in the tournament. The team is looking to improve its record, which currently stands at 9-2. The team is looking forward to the upcoming matches and is ready to make a statement in the tournament.

IM Golf Tournament Held at Avon Field

by Erich Mende

"We are excited to see how the players perform," said coach Chuck Studley. "They have worked hard and are ready to show their skills." The tournament will be held at Avon Field, and the teams will be competing for the highest score.

The weather is expected to be sunny and warm, providing the perfect conditions for a golf tournament. The course is well-maintained and challenging, offering a great test for the players.

The tournament will begin at 9 a.m., and the teams will be divided into groups of four. Each group will play a match of 18 holes, and the team with the lowest score will be declared the winner.

Gridders Impress In Initial Scrimmage

by Hank Graden

"After viewing the movies taken in last Saturday's grid scrimmage coach Chuck Studley speaks with enthusiasm," said Graden. "The players were impressive and showed great potential." The team worked hard during the scrimmage, and the results were positive.

In the scrimmage, the team displayed great speed and agility, with many players scoring touchdowns. The defense was strong, holding the opposition to a low number of points.

The team's success was attributed to the hard work and dedication of the players. "They have shown great improvement," said Studley. "We are confident in their abilities and are looking forward to their continued growth." The team will continue to work hard and improve their skills, aiming for success in the upcoming season.
Divotmen Win, Head Into Ohio Tourney

The University of Cincinnati golf squad wound up their first full week of competition in sterling form as they defeated three local foes on three consecutive days to bring their season's record to a perfect 4-0.

Weather caused cancellation of a fourth match with cross-town rival Xavier. Playing under threatening skies on three consecutive days, to win, Xavier. Playing under threatening weather, the rain finally broke loose just as the squads were starting the back nine. Attempts are now being made to reschedule the match.

After matches with Xavier today and Marshall tomorrow they now move on to the Ohio Intercollegiate-Tourney at Columbus on Monday. All Ohio colleges and universities are eligible for the 36-hole competition. At least 24 schools are expected to participate.

Tuesday night the Cats will be flying into Tulsa, Okla., for the Missouri Valley meet. The meet starts Thursday and lasts two days with Wednesday being reserved for practice rounds.

Because the competition will be taking place during school time, the tournament was cut to a 36-hole total instead of the regulation 54.

Each team consists of five men with the best four scores counting toward the team ranking.

Huron has monopolized the crown for the last five years but with last year's NCAA champs out of the conference North Texas is expected to cap this year's title.

Coach Bill Swarbrook, while not denying a possible spot at the crown, admits that his big aim is to challenge Tulsa for the runner-up spot.

In last week's contests the Red skins of Miami wore the title, having scored a 1047-74 over a rain-soaked course.

Ed Driver and John Ehlen shared the top spot as they both scored a one under par 72 on the 73 Oxford Country Club course.

Jim Willmer and Rich Fredrick shared second honors, each with a 73. Dennis Fryer paced the Miami foursome as they came out on top with 319-354.

Another local rival, the Dayton Flyers, provided mild opposition as the Cincinnati squad posted a collective record of 54.

"South Pacific" Here; Zima, Scherer, Star

by Jean Freiden

"South Pacific" will open a three-night run at 8:30 p.m., tonight in Wilson Auditorium. Produced by the Mummers Guild, it will feature all-student cast, orchestra and production crews. The story is taken from James Michener's pipe, "Tales of the South Pacific." Featured in the show are leading roles are Joe Zima, A&S '62, who will play Barymore; Suzanne Scherer, TC '63, in the role of Nellie Forbush; Don Newman, TC '63, as the lovely native girl Li'l; John Betz, Eng '62, as Li'. Joe Cable; Dona Donnelly, TC '61, who will be seen as Bloody Mary; Dick Von Hone, TC '62, who will portray Luther Billis.

Major non-speaking parts are to be enacted by Ron Ruhl, A&S '64, and John Buih, A&S '64. Four female students in special dances which have been choreographed by Kay Rose, TC '60, and Lee Beams, A&S '64. Set in the tropical islands occupied by U.S. forces during World War II, "South Pacific" requires over 60 settings all of which have been designed by Bill Akin, A&S '64. Staged and directed by Guild faculty advisor Paul Rodledge, "South Pacific" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. tonight, Friday and Saturday in Wilson Auditorium. In addition, this same show will open the 1963 season at Maxinkuckee Playhouse in Culver, Indiana, with Miss Scherer, Miss Donnelly, Zima, Hes and Von Hone recreating their respective roles in the UC production.

Tickets for "South Pacific" can be purchased at the door on production dates. They are also on sale opposite the Grill at noon. Student tickets are $1.25, non-students $1.75, faculty, two for $1.75.

New Officers Elected for Debate Team

Mark Greengerbread was selected president of Intercollegiate Debate. Officers at their meeting Monday evening, April 24. The other officers elected were Janet Miller, NAF '63, vice-president; Linda Schaffner, A&S '63, secretary-treasurer; and Pat Boyle, NAF '63, historian. The officers will have a challenging year ahead of them since the Intercollegiate Debaters are planning to enlarge the group and enter the British Debaters in the fall.

This weekend, Greengerbread and Miss Shiffren will represent UC in the Mary Xong Debate Tournament to be held at the Shearman-Gibson Hotel. The UC team will alternately debate both sides of the question. Resolved: That the United States should adopt a program of compulsory health insurance. West Point, Northwestern, Augustana, Notre Dame, and Kentucky are just a few of the schools that will participate in this national tournament.

The Lively Arts... A Human Zoo

"Volpone," originally by the Elizabethan poet Ben Johnson but in the end, Mosca has a change of heart and tricks his adopter of Volpone's fortune and wealth. Mosca and Volpone also extort money from them all their wealth and dignity. One disinherits his son in favor of Volpone as his investment in the will but the other even his wife, for a precious dove, for Volpone's pleasure. Honesty takes his role in the play in Leone, the crow's son. However, the virtuous avarice and lechery succeed for a time. But in the end, Mosca has a change of heart and tricks his master into exile while he is left sole heir of Volpone's fortune and he sells his conscience by paying off the gold seekers.

"Volpone" is now being presented at The Playhouse in the Park in Eden park.

The production is quite well done although there are parts which do not come off well through the entire show. Cobacca, the old miserly crow, stands out as a wonderful characterization. His son, Leone, does a good job with the task of the honestest serpent who is perplexed in his innocence. All the characters have their great moments, which, coupled with the outstanding sets, lighting, and music, make "Volpone" well worth the time and your ill- gotten money to see. Tickets Bureau at the Union Desk now offers Playhouse in the Park tickets at a 30% discount. Seats are $1 each for the first Thursday and last Sunday evenings of plays scheduled for the current summer season.

Tickets for "Volpone" are available for Thursday, May 11, and Sunday, May 14.

Wilson's Last Film To Be Bunnel's 'The Forsaken'

At 7:30 p.m., May 14, in Wilson Auditorium, A.A. Wilson's city will present its last film of the year, Bunuel's master piece of realism; "The Forsaken." About juvenile delinquents in modern Mexico City "The Forsaken" shocks us as its its reality. Bunuel bluntly turns his camera directly upon the violence and brutality of life itself. His techniques are designed "to provide the spectator: instinctive reactions to stimuli. Bunuel bitterly turns his camera.

There have been few sequences on the screen more painful than the attempted robbery of the blind singer; yet the victim is hardly less callous than the attackers. Bunuel wants to show the possibility of any pity or warm feelings. Given his subject and treatment, he has created a faultless film.

Wilson's experimental short "Imagi in the Snow," which has won some very high awards will also be shown.

"Eatin’ treats can’t that can’t be beat."
Members of the University chartered air service will fly to Copenhagen Aug. 11, getting ready for the trip abroad. Once their plane lands, the variety of the planned plans will take them from the British Isles to the edge of the Iron Curtain and from the ports of Scandinavia to the Mediterranean coast of France and Italy.

Sally Pathe, A&S '66, plans to spend some time in Copenhagen and then drive down through Denmark and Holland to Amsterdam. Here she will view the art treasures in the Rijks Museum and get up early to see the famous flower market on the canal. Sally hopes to spend most of her time in France, especially Paris, so that she can practice the French she has learned in school.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Segmester are going "just to relax, and to see something new." They will spend about four leisurely days in Copenhagen seeing the treasures in the Rijks Museum and terraced vineyards, then "see as much as we can." At the Sagrmaster's house in Stockholm, they will spend about four leisurely days, visiting radio and TV stations in all the major Scandinavian cities. Because of their interest in art, the Sagrmasters will visit the displays of Van Gogh's collection in Oslo, and will view "Millesgard," the permanent, outdoor exhibition of Carl Milles' statues and fountains in Stockholm.

Martha Thielem, BA '63, plans to be in touch with two other girls from the College of Nursing and Health, Pat Jordan, Mary Fletcher, Sally Nelson, Pete Turner, Mary Alexander and Carolyn Camp to rent a Volkswagen bus in Copenhagen, drive south into Germany and up the Rhine before turning west toward Paris. They will take the channel boat to England and spend some time in and around London.

A limited number of places are still available to those who have not yet made reservations, but these are being assigned on the basis of "first come, first served." If the plane is completely filled, the cost of the round trip between New York and Copenhagen will be only $250. University of Cincinnati faculty, staff and students (including those who will be in the intercession or first term of summer school) and members of their immediate families are eligible to go on this charter flight. For further information call Dr. Ian MacGregor, Dean, or Mrs. L. W. Pathe, line 420.

The desire for companionship and the advantages of pooling resources have caused several individuals to form groups. One such group is composed of six students from the College of Nursing and Health, Pat Jordan, Mary Fletcher, Sally Nelson, Pete Turner, Mary Alexander and Carolyn Camp to rent a Volkswagen bus in Copenhagen, drive south into Germany and up the Rhine before turning west toward Paris. They will take the channel boat to England and spend some time in and around London.

DEAR, DR. FROOD:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

My problem is fat, stubby fingers. As a result, I am exceedingly awkward with my hands. My manual dexterity is so poor, in fact, that I can't even get a Lucky pack open. What can I do?

DEAR PROFESSOR:

Just as soon as they get one that can rap the knuckles of a sleeping student, give humility answers to foolish questions and spring surprise tests whenever it happens to be in a bad mood.

DEAR DR. FROOD:

In the four years I've been at this college I've done some pretty horrible things. I am guilty, for instance, of putting protes-

DEAR DR. FROOD:

I'm exceedingly awkward with my hands. My manual dexterity is so poor, in fact, that I can't even get a Lucky pack open. What can I do?

Fingers

DEAR FINGERS: Simply strap ordinary sewing needles along both of your index fingers. Now cup the Lucky pack in your hands, grasp the little red tab in your teeth, and yank. Next, place the pack on a flat surface and secure it between two unabridged dictionaries. Then, with the right-hand needle, carefully, carefully carve a one-inch-square opening at the top right-hand corner. Finally, place the points of the needles firmly against the sides of a Lucky and lift. That's all there is to it. A word of warning though: Try to be careful when shaking hands.

THE HANDWRITING IS ON THE WALL, says Dr. Frood. Or, more exactly, on the blackboard. It's appearing on college blackboards everywhere: "College students smoke more Luckies than any other regular." Why is this statement showing up on college blackboards? Because I am paying agents to put it there. For you may remember that Luckies are the cigarette with taste—the emphatic toasted taste. Try a pack of Luckies today.
Goodman Speaks Monday On Urban Area Planning

William L. Goodman, of the department of city planning and landscape architecture, University of Illinois, will give a free public lecture at 3:30 p.m. May 9 in Room 6, Old Main building.

"Planning and Design of Urban Areas in the 60's—The Meaning of the New Frontier" will be Goodman's topic. He will speak before a UC Evening College class taught by Dr. Peter H. Nash, chairman of the UC department of geography and regional planning.

Professor of city planning and chairman of the division of city planning at Illinois, Goodman will also address a free public seminar at 3 p.m. May 9 in Room 207 Old Main building. His seminar subject will be "Design in Urban Renewal."

Membership of the planning experts' campus visit will be by the UC Graduate Student Council and the UC department of geography and regional planning.

Consulted with the Illinois Planning Policy Committee and vice president of the Western Great Lakes chapter, American Institute of Planners, Professor Goodman has also taught at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

President's Review Scheduled For May 9

Colonel C. G. Hubbart, Army PMA and Colonel G. W. Gregg, professor of air science, have announced that the Joint Army-Air Force ROTC President's Review honoring Dr. Walter C. Langsam, University President, will be held Thursday, May 9.

The Review will be preceded by a dinner in the President's Dining Room, Student Union, and concluded by an open house in the Main Lounge of the Union. The Review proper will start with Adjutants Call at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

Commander of Troops on the field will be Colonel Jack Simplesmer, APMA and Lieutenant Commander R. Robert Sarnacki, U.S. Naval Reserve will direct the Joint ROTC Band.

Special guests at the review will be in General Branch, Captain James J. Miller, U.S. Army Forces Command; Joseph N. Langsam, Jr., president of the Western Great Lakes chapter, American Institute of Planners, Professor Goodman; and the UC department of geography and regional planning.

Consulted with the Illinois Planning Policy Committee and vice president of the Western Great Lakes chapter, American Institute of Planners, Professor Goodman has also taught at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

Why "lug" your winter and fall clothes home and then "lug" them back when you return...

Let Gregg's pick them up. • Clean theme. Spot them. • And deliver to you again when you return, before a lecture or performance or inclement weather prevails, the Review will be held in the Armory Fieldhouse.
Skilled Volunteers Needed
For Peace Corps Service

The Peace Corps is looking for volunteers with "needed skills." The range of needed skills is great. Most nations requesting volunteers will be industrially developed than the US. They will want engineers, technicians, teachers, craftsmen, and administrators.

Other countries will seek to improve their agricultural systems and will have a need for farmers who understand the land and the use of modern implements and for agricultural specialists with college degrees.

Government and political science majors may be in demand by a newly formed nation anxious to establish an effective administration.

Teachers will be in short supply in South Asia, Latin America and Africa. Some will be called upon to teach English, others to work in secondary schools. Some nations will want college-level teachers in a wide variety of subjects.

Those with laboratory or facilitate skills will be needed in tropical areas where the threat of disease and pestilence is great. Construction technicians, utility skills and civil engineering skills are also in extremely short supply.

The volunteer must understand the host nation's language. Intensive language training will be part of the Peace Corps training program.

"Men and women over 18 meeting these standards will be welcomed into the Peace Corps," said Ann McPherson, the program's director.

Dr. Brewer

The International Association of College Unions, completing four years of annual conferences activities April 18 in Colorado Springs, Colo., named a UC administrator staff member as its 29th president. Dr. Floyd L. Brewer, director of the UC Union, campus activities center, was elected at the 1961 business meeting.

Approximately 325 delegates from colleges in the U.S., Canada, and Puerto Rico attended the conference at the Broadmoor Hotel.

The new president has been active in the association during the years 1957, as chairman, and 1958, as vice president. Last year at Indiana University, Bloomington, Dr. Brewer served as director of the Indiana University Union, and he has been active in the association since 1961.

Dr. Brewer holds a master's degree in vocational education and has been awarded a six-year exchange grant by the Department of State to lecture in the universities of Milan and the nearby library at Pavia.

Mr. Alexander

James M. Alexander, associate professor of design in the UC College of Applied Arts, is the new national president of the Industrial Design Education Association. He was selected at the organization's convention in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. Alexander will serve for one year. The association is composed of industrial design teachers in colleges and universities throughout the United States.

A 1943 graduate of the UC College of Applied Arts, Mr. Alexander served with the U.S. Army until 1945 and was appointed to the UC faculty in 1946.

Dr. Shank

Dr. Spencer Shank, UC dean of special services, has been named chairman of a newly formed University committee on faculty and graduate fellowships.

Through his appointment, the office of the dean of special services will serve as a central clearing house for information and service for all the various fellowship programs available in this country and abroad.

Other members of the committee include: Dr. Campbell Crear, dean of UC's Graduate School; Dr. Kenneth Conner, professor of geography; Dr. Richard M. Emerson, assistant professor of sociology; Dr. Louis Lauxby, the William Thomas professor of civil engineering; Dr. Clarence Lubin, professor of mathematics; and Dr. Dillwyn Ratcliff, professor of Romance languages and literature.

A monthly or bi-monthly letter is planned to be published by the dean of special services' office for faculty and graduate students during the school year, announcing and describing available fellowships and grants.
