Engineer shortage seen

A shortage of engineers can be expected in the next few years, according to LeRoy Eckart, associate dean of the College of Engineering and assistant professor of mechanical engineering. He said that many of the problems the country will face will depend on engineers to provide solutions.

"As early as 1971," Eckart said, "there were reports that the demand for new engineering graduates was up to 15 percent. But estimates are that the average demand for engineers will be about 40,000 per year for the next 10 years."

Eckart pointed out an average of 43,000 engineers were awarded annually between 1970 and 1972.

"Estimates further point to a decline in engineering graduates over the next three years," he said, "40,000 in 1973, 36,000 in 1974, and 32,000 in 1975."

U.S. Labor Department projections indicate a "severe pinch" about 1980, according to Eckart, and among students will be accompanied by a decline in engineering education. Eckart believes the lack of interest among potential students is due in part to a lack of understanding of the engineering profession.

"Many of the problems that face our society today will require more engineers and more scientific and engineering personnel than these earlier reports indicate," Eckart said. He mentioned the problems of air pollution, the need for better utilization of natural resources, the development of efficient mass transit systems, and reduction in air and water pollution.

"All these projects will require well-educated, capable engineers," he said. "I anticipate that the engineering profession will offer many job opportunities, but not necessarily a better quality of life. Technology can and must be used to improve our quality of life, not to degrade it."

"Many new areas need more workers for students and women students in the engineering field are "exceptional," Eckart added. The demand for our students is very high now, according to the National Academy of Sciences, to 80 per cent in the old curriculum to 40 per cent in the new."

President Bennis announced publicly that the Ohio Board of Regents will hold its February meeting on the UC campus at 2 p.m. on Feb. 13.

"The name of the Department of Mathematics was changed to The Department of Mathematics Science and the academic affairs committee of the Board said, "This change takes recognition of past diversification of its offerings and the proposal adoption of the Department of Mathematics and Science.

"The University will remain the right to confer degrees in astronomy under the new arrangement, according to the committee report.

"Michael C. Miller, of the department of mathematics science, has been awarded an additional $3,460 for a continuation of his research on the ecology of the Arctic.

"The new grant, awarded by the National Science Foundation, is for a study on the production and decomposition of dissolved and particulate organic carbon in Arctic coastal areas.

"Miller is one of a number of scientists currently working on the work in the Arctic studies."

Bill lowering speed limits in Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP) - A bill lowering Ohio speed limits to 65 miles per hour to conform with the new federal limit was expected to be presented for passage today by the House Transportation Committee.

Chairman James P. Colebrooke, D- Cleveland, introduced the bill at the start of the 119th day of the 27th session of the Ohio legislature.

"The bill is intended to reduce the speed limit to 65 miles per hour," Colebrooke said.

Despite the sense of urgency about the energy crisis that prevailed when the legislative session began Jan. 3, the speed limit bill appears to be the only positive move within the grossly jammed 27th session so far.

Ohio Governor John J. Gilligan submitted to the lawmakers late last month his energy bill to create a state energy board and authorize other extrastate regulatory actions, but hearings on it have proceeded slowly.

House Speaker Pro Tem Verna G. Kiker, D-Delaware, said the energy bill has been "well taken care of this session, from the state legislative standpoint."
Child abuse not 'training'

The state of Ohio and the Presto and Gambi Fund have awarded a matching grant totaling $50,000 to the UC College of Education and Urban Science for a new, expanded laboratory for the study of behavior, education and the relationship between the two. President Bennis Tuesday. The laboratory will be a center for the study of the social and emotional development of children. It will serve the university, in addition to the college, for opening students as well as researchers.

"I am excited that the $50,000 matching grant totaling $100,000 for providing practical training for teachers, librarians and social workers has been staked by both the university and the Department of Education to make this happen," said President Bennis.

Spending on children is the lab will be housed, but he hopes it will be on the sixth floor of the Alumni Lounge last Friday night. About 200 students attended the meeting in the French Hall for Making a Difference in Education to meet with their colleagues who, like Jewett, do not expect public support for such a program.

"There's a need for providing training for professionals," said Jewett, "and for more courses in the college. For example, the French Hall for Making a Difference in Education to meet with their colleagues who, like Jewett, do not expect public support for such a program.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS CALLS FOR ELECTIONS

The UC chapter of the AAUP Tuesday formally requested that the Board of Regents call an election to determine whether the UC administration wants to bargain with the AAUP. The matter was sent to the attachment committee, which, in turn, referred it to the Board on the matter.

The AAUP spokeperson for the campus has been involved in several meetings with the Faculty Senate only decided to investigate this issue.

Clearly the Faculty Senate has left behind in the past when it has had to do with the Board it has decided it must indeed seek to the University in the process to do this.

It is unfortunate that a body such as the Faculty Senate left the issue to the AAUP alone for so long. It would now do well to catch up with the administration and find out for itself what the Board has decided in this matter.

Counseling services available for personal, academic problems

By BARBARA L. PINXER

A variety of general counseling services is available for UC students, by the problem personal or academic. Many specialized services also exist for people with legal problems, or sexual problems such as pregnancy or rape.

A brief summary of the services available on campus include:

• The Walk-in Clinic, operated by the psychology department, offering personal counseling.
• The Mental Health Program of the Student Health Service, staffed by psychologists, psychiatrists and psychiatric nurses.
• The "Listening Ear," an informal personal counseling service, still in the planning stage.
• The Counseling Center, offering vocational and adjustment counseling.
• The Minority Groups Counseling Center, offering counseling for all students, but with a special orientation for black students.
• Women Helping Women, a service for women run by the Women's Affairs Center.
• Legal counseling, run by student volunteers with the Cincinnati Bar Association.

Most of these services are normally available from a student's advisor, the TUC Information Desk, the ombudsmen or any of a number of other sources.

However, if a sampling of students to TUC are any indications, UC students are generally unaware of the services available to them.

Paula Zavell, a sociology major at A&S, said that "they're not aware of any special services on campus. I go to the secretaries in my department for school problems. I don't know where you could go for personal counseling.

A junior in the College of Education and Home Economics, who declined to identify herself, said that she was aware of two service on campus, a legal counseling service and a personal counseling service. "I've never used them, though," she said. "I really have no idea where one could go.

A freshman in engineering, Steve McClain, thinks that services are available. He gets as an extracurricular the VD Center, although there is no specific agency by that name on campus. (Any full-time student can receive treatment for emotional disease at the Student Health Service, according to the Service's information clerk.) He further said that if he were seeking help, he would go to the TUC Information Desk for the names of counseling services.

 Videotapes offer mid-day entertainment

Ohio AFL-CIO head predicts passage of health care study

By DON ELLA CUNNINGHAM

Video tapes programs in the VDT Center will be featured for mid-day entertainment for the community, according to Ray Feldman, chairman of VDT Center.

According to Ray, chairman of VDT Program and co-chairman of the Student Speakers Bureau, this type of program was scheduled because there is "not too much to do around peak traffic times" and it gives those who do not have time to "catch up" with a chance to pass the time.

Ray explained the Student Speakers Bureau which is an attempt to provide students with an opportunity to share their own views on topics of contemporary interest.

He also said the Student Speakers Bureau, which is part of the Student Program Board, is attempting to form a separate group to deal specifically with videotape programs. "Because of the many programs that are the Student Speakers Bureau now sponsors, we want to make sure that we can contact the Program Office," he said.

Ray also stated that this type of programming does not require extensive promotion. "If someone stops to tape it at a look and every tape is not used, they can come back again."

The programs will resume from noon to 2 p.m. Monday, with "Black Onions," hosted by James Earl Rabbit and even President Nixon in the White House.

Two special tapes are planned for rented to college campuses—all over the country.

Bolivian guitarist comes to CCM "Classical Series"

By STEVE HELWIG

Javier Calderon, classical guitarist, will perform at 8 p.m., Mason Recital Hall, and at 8 a.m. he will give a master class as part of the CCM Classical Series.

Born in Bolivia, Calderon began playing the guitar at the age of five and at 14 he made his formal debut with the National Symphony in his homeland.

Calderon's enthusiastic reception encouraged him to come to the United States where he was acclaimed by "Cavatina" by the Polish composer Mieczyslaw Weinberg. His European debut was at La Scala in Milan in 1978.

The guitarist's tour of the United States was made possible by a grant from the National Endowment of the Arts. He has played in all the leading concert halls of the country and is also on the faculty of the Juilliard School and the University of Pittsburgh.

The program will include works by Schubert, Paganini, Liszt, Debussy, Ravel and Granados.

A "Sensé of Place" exhibited at DAA

By CYNTHIA HILBERG

Alan Wood, visiting artist from England, will hold an exhibition of his works beginning Monday, and running through Feb. 27, at the Arts Gallery, DAA.

Wood's exhibit is entitled, "A Sensé of Place" and features his large-scale, freestanding screens, wall pieces and small etchings.

He works with etchings directl on the canvas creating specific "abstract patterns" derived from nature.

Prior to his current job of instructing DAA graduate students during winter quarter, Wood was principal lecturer of "Cartoon College" in Wales. He is presently using Cincinatti and UC as a home base while visiting other schools in Ohio and continuing with his woodcutting.

His "visual experience" gained from places to which he has traveled such as the Scottish Highlands, the Welsh mountains, supply some of his subject material. Although his works are taken directly from nature, they are not the actual etchings of British fellings projected from the scene.

In May, Wood will be exhibiting at the University of British Columbia, in Vancouver at the Gallerie Art. "Budy" Blak, director of CCM is planning to have him open his exhibit at the Arts Gallery. The exhibit will be opened on the following Friday and Tuesday. The show will continue through May. The artist is an English doctor and was trained at the Royal Academy of London. The exhibit will be his first solo show in America.

WAA changes constitution

By KATHY SCHINGELDECKER
The Women's Athletic Association (WAA), at a meeting last Thursday, discussed changes and additions which they propose is in making the organization, both internal and external, constituencies.

The reason for the new constitution, according to WAA president Connie Sagar, is to make the organization more representative, to aid in recruitment, and to develop a stronger administrative entity.

The new constitution includes a new by-law section which will include the reporting of procedures, the constitution, and amendments.

The constitution has four sections: the purpose and scope, the administration, the internal organization, and the intramural sports.
